

THE CLUB AT LAS CAMPANAS

SANTA FE

Internship Posting 2018

The Club at Las Campanas is home to two Jack Nicklaus Signature golf courses. Sunrise and Sunset Golf Courses have consistently earned high praise - accolades include the 2015-2016 Golf Digest Best in State Rankings for New Mexico with the Sunset Course ranked as #1 and the Sunrise Course ranked as #3. Interns will be exposed to a unique environment – cool season turf in a high desert climate at 7000 feet.

- The Club at Las Campanas was awarded Audubon Certification in 2016.
- Host of the 2017 USGA Women's State Team Championship
- Bentgrass greens, tees, and fairways
- Kentucky bluegrass rough
- PoaCure trials will be made throughout the season on practice greens
- Sub surface drip irrigation trials – Collaboration with NMSU

Our internship program focuses on the progression from student, to an Assistant Superintendent. Interns will be expected to participate in all facets of course maintenance. They will work closely with the Superintendents and Assistants from both courses. Software workshops will be held with the Water Resource Superintendent. Grinding workshops will be held with Equipment Manager. Interns will conduct morning meetings, schedule crew assignments and will have the chance to manage small projects.

No previous golf course experience is necessary. Currently enrolled in a 2-4 year agronomic program. We will train the right individuals. Three positions are available. Looking for 3-6 month internships. Housing, meals, golf privileges, and uniforms provided. $12-$15/hr. Possibility for Bonus/Scholarship
